City Shutterbugs Twice as Busy

Victoria shutterbugs just about doubled their normal summer activity during the visit of Princess Margaret, a film finisher said yesterday.

He described the impact of the royal visit as "terrific," although, he said, amateur photographers might have taken more pictures if the Princess had stopped in any one place longer.

But he had no complaints, he added—business was about double normal, and normal at this time of year is heavy.

'Black Hole'

Navy Probe Asked

OTTAWA (CP) — A Commons member called Wednesday for an investigation into reports that 13 newspaper photographers were locked in a small room aboard a Canadian naval vessel for 3½ hours during Tuesday's naval review by Princess Margaret off Victoria.

Frank Howard (CCF-Skeena), requesting the inquiry, said the photographers were not allowed to report on the review as were CBC photographers.

Revenue Minister Nowlan, acting in the absence of Defence Minister Pearkes, said he expects Mr. Pearkes will make a statement following his return to Ottawa today. Mr. Pearkes has been in Victoria for the Princess' visit.

The report said that 13 British, Canadian and American news photographers were locked in what they called a "Black Hole of Calcutta" aboard HMCS Crescent during the 3½-hour voyage. At the time of the review they were let out for three minutes to take pictures through a port hole.

Royal Favor

Detour Honors Chief

Princess Margaret made an unscheduled detour yesterday to visit briefly at St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox, to speak to Robert Clifton, president of the Native Brotherhood of B.C.

He was largely instrumental in gaining the Princess' consent to attend a function staged by the native peoples of B.C. and thus was unable to attend because of illness.

His place at a potlatch in Courtenay was taken by Dr. Peter Kelly.

The call at the hospital to greet the ailing Clifton was made while the royal party was on its way from the potlatch to Comox, where a plane was waiting to take Princess Margaret to the mainland.

'Cheers', Day Late?

Ships in the RCN west coast fleet received the order to splice the mainbrace as they neared Vancouver yesterday—a day after the naval review of Royal Roads.

The traditional naval gesture marking a special occasion appeared to have been forgotten in the excitement of the day before.

Yesterday morning a signal was flashed from the admiral stating that Her Royal Highness Princess Margaret had graciously consented to give the order to splice the mainbrace at 4 p.m. in the afternoon. It means an extra ration of rum for all hands.

Native Royalty Greets Princess

Chief Maquinna of the Nootka Indian band was among chiefs paying respects yesterday to Princess Margaret during the last day of her stay on Vancouver Island. In the early days of the white man on the West Coast a chief of the same name was fiercely defiant of the invaders and the Nootka home of the Native Brotherhood of B.C.

Island Bids Princess Goodbye

Smiles, Cheers Mark Parting

With bright sunshine and warmer smiles, with cheers and some tears of sorrow at parting, Vancouver Island bid farewells yesterday to Princess Margaret.

An estimated 30,000 caught at least a glimpse of the Royal visitor during her busy last day on the Island during which she travelled close to 200 miles by car and plane between Victoria and Comox.

The day's program, final one of five colorful days at this starting point for the Princess' Canadian tour, included a drive over the Malahat, dressed in sunshine for the occasion, cutting of the famous six-ton oak at Nanaimo, a potlatch at Courtenay and an inspection of the aircraft and crews of the 409 All Weather Fighter Squadron (CF 100s) and the 407 Maritime Patrol Squadron at RCAF Station, Comox.

At the Courtenay gathering Princess Margaret accepted two carved totem poles, one for delivery to Queen Elizabeth, from B.C. Indians.

Late in the afternoon, after the RCAF inspection at Comox, the Rangers, who had earlier in the week been disappointed because the Princess went by too quickly,

At Duncan where the party halted for a 10-minute stop, during the ride north, more than 2,500 cheering Cowichan Valley residents gathered at Pioneer Park, saw Princess Margaret sign the visitors book and accept a bouquet.

At Comox another 1,500 were gathered to greet the Royal visitor when she stepped smiling into the hot sunshine from the Mallard plane that brought her from Cassidy, near Nanaimo, to the RCAF base.

An even greater throng was on hand when the Princess returned to Comox after the Courtenay visit, to inspect the base and embark on the plane for the mainland.

"We are sorry she can't stay longer and we hope she will be back again in the not too distant future," he added as the crowd broke into cheers.

Abandoning of the tour had aroused strong feeling in the district.

Tour Power Needed In Royal Presence

COURTENAY—In a welcoming speech to Princess Margaret on behalf of the people of Courtenay and district, Mayor William Moore told the crowd plans to have the Princess tour the district had been abandoned.

"The powers in Victoria had other ideas." Mayor Moore stated. "I think it was feared if the Princess saw this district she might like it so much she wouldn't go on with the rest of her tour."

"We are sorry she can't stay longer and we hope she will be back again in the not too distant future," he added as the crowd broke into cheers.

Youngsters again made hay while the hot sun shone and did a roaring trade selling cold "pop" to the waiting people at a fairly hefty mark-up.

Lebanon Resents Occupation

U.S. TROOPS POUR IN AS WAR FEARS GROW

Britain, U.S., Canada To Hold Urgent Talks

BEIRUT (Reuters)—United States Marines took up positions in Beirut itself Wednesday amid increasing local resentment over their presence here and an atmosphere of deepening Middle East crisis.

More United States troops were being moved into the area. British land, sea and air forces from Kenya to Britain were on the move or ready to go.

LLOYD OFF TO U.S.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd left London for urgent talks in Washington with State Secretary Dulles and External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith of Canada.

In Moscow and the United Nations Security Council, Russia demanded that the troops be withdrawn and warned that it was reserving the right to take "necessary measures" to protect peace and security.

HUSSEIN PLANS MOVE

Jordan's young King Hussein, his throne and country endangered by pro-Nasser elements which overthrew his cousin Faisal in Iraq Monday, was reported by spokesmen for his government to be ready to undertake to "restore peace and stability" in Iraq.

But Cairo broadcast a statement by President Nasser that any attack on Iraq would be considered an attack on his United Arab Republic.

MOVE PROTESTED

In the UN, the president of Lebanon's Chamber of Deputies protested the landing of the marines and demanded their withdrawal.

Opposition to the U.S. landing was also heard from Red China, Japan, Ghana and personally from Prime Minister Nehru of India. UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold expressed the view that the UN watch-dog team now in Lebanon could do little alone.

Damascus radio in Syria broadcast a pledge by Lebanese rebel leader Saeb Salem to "fight to the end" to drive American marines out of the country.

Earlier he called on his forces to stop shooting at Lebanese forces because "we must co-operate with the army against the American aggressors."

TENSION SPREADS

Tension spread elsewhere in the Middle East. Iran's 110,000-man army was placed on alert and units ordered to the Iraq border in case of "any possible incident."

Turkey cancelled all army leave and recalled officers to their units.

ADVICE TO KING

Sources in Ankara said the heads of state of Pakistan, Iran and Turkey already have urged Hussein to ask for United States military aid to protect the independence of his country.

The Iranian foreign ministry said it had received reports that 23-year-old King Faisal had been murdered by the army insurgents.

LOYALISTS MARCH

Baghdad radio said the country was quiet but Jordan claimed troops loyal to Faisal and Nuri Said were on the march toward Baghdad.

United States Embassy officials in Beirut refused to comment on reports that influential military quarters had been angered by the American marines' move into the city and now wanted them withdrawn entirely.

ANAMAN, Jordan (AP)—King Hussein appealed in a broadcast Wednesday night to the Iraqi people and army "to kill mutiny in its cradle and to purify Iraq of traitors."

ALLAHABAD, India (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru said that if outside powers intervene in the internal affairs of Iraq and Lebanon, "there is a great danger of world war."

MOSCOW (AP)—Adlai Stevenson told Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko Wednesday he is confident the American people will emphatically support the sending of U.S. troops to Lebanon.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jordan has asked the United States for gasoline and oil which it normally would get from Iraq.

* * *

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Communist China has decided to recognize the Iraqi republic.

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Israel is reported to have been asked for permission to use its air space should a Western air strike of troops to Jordan be necessary.

OTTAWA (CP)—Naval headquarters said yesterday ships of the Royal Canadian Navy have not been "alerted" as a result of the crisis in the Middle East. There are no RCN ships near the trouble area.

VIENNA (AP)—The Austrian government protested to the United States Wednesday that U.S. military transport aircraft had violated Austria's air over the Tyrol, between West Germany and Italy.

LONDON (Reuters)—British civilian and military leaders emerged from a discussion of the Middle East crisis early today after the latest-lasting cabinet meeting since the war.

Political quarters said the main subject discussed probably was that King Hussein of Jordan had made a formal request to Britain for help.

The cabinet had likely discussed the question of sending British troops to Jordan—a question which may have split the cabinet, these quarters said.

The meeting, called to discuss "unexpected news from the Middle East," was also attended by the three ministers representing Britain's armed forces and the chiefs of staff.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A TOURIST landlady who does not sign her name sends me a blast against American visitors. I can see why she would rather stay anonymous.

"Something has gone wrong with their legs," she says wistfully. "They can't climb stairs—not even the teen-agers. Climbing the golden stairs to heaven—they'll never make it... A lot of them puff and wheeze. Too much high living."

"And showers! They are more important than beds. They stop and they splash. Think it's a throw-back—they're trying to wash away their sins..."

Well, let's be fair. The Americans aren't the only people who pant on stairs, and like to take shower baths. Some of my best friends are Americans. True enough, if you took a survey you would find that the Americans were the fattest people in the world—on the average. However, that would be small comfort to the millions of unemployed Americans who are trying to make do on lean rations, as the depression gets worse.

Not all Americans are as well-fed as the tourists that we see here.

"The National Guardian" (an American Socialist periodical) "is no more in favor of freedom than Winston Churchill, Eisenhower or Nikita Khrushchev," writes J. G. Jenkins of 959 Darwin Street.

"They all support capitalism which means freedom for the 10 per cent who own and rule."

He sends some copies of an English periodical, "The Socialist Standard," containing the following statements:

"The Russian Revolution . . . has never been concerned with 'winning the battle of democracy.' Although it has borrowed Marxian phraseology, suitably amended, it has in fact been a capitalist revolution and has followed capitalist imperialist methods, of which its attitude in Hungary is an example."

"Like the French Revolution, it has inscribed on its banners, 'Liberty, Equality, Fraternity,' and, like the French Revolution, these words have meant freedom for one group to oppress and exploit one another..."

While we Western jockeys of capitalism and those Russian state capitalists are busy hating one another, it is heartening to know that there is a group of people who hate both of us.

A "thinking car" has been designed in Britain, says United Kingdom Information Service. It's an automatic transmission system that provides ratio drive—hundreds of gear changes instead of three or four.

Dr. Albert Fogg, director of the British Motor Industries Research Association, said ". . . There are many cars on the road which for most of the time need only a fifth of the power they actually have. An automatic control unit can work out constantly and immediately the best gear ratio for any speed in any circumstances."

The thinking car isn't yet in production, but manufacturers are interested.

Desert islands will bloom when a new British seawater distilling plant comes into full operation. The largest distillation plant in the world, on the island of Aruba, makes 500,000 gallons of fresh water a day from the sea.

Under construction are plants for Curacao, Nassau in the Bahamas and four more—for Aruba. How about British Columbia's Gulf Islands? A reader was asking me recently for the name of the firm that made these new distillation plants. It is G. and J. Weir of Glasgow—representatives, Peacock Bros. Latin Artists Appealing

Heat No 'Friend' To Dance Lovers

By BERT BINNY

If it was the heat which kept some people away from the exciting performance of Teresita and Emilio Osta at Oak Bay Junior High School last night, then the heat did those people an extremely bad turn.

For artistry in dancing which is sincere, sustained and positively packed with audience appeal, Teresita would be exceptionally hard to surpass.

For each successive number, be it Spanish, Mexican, Argentinian, Peruvian or Cuban, she brings a different personality to the stage and never loses it.

While Teresita puts consummate skill and deft characterization into Latin dances, her brother, Emilio, is responsible for magnificent interpretations of Latin music on the piano. His "La Comparsa" was especially brilliant, a Lecuona composition arranged by Emilio Osta himself.

Mr. Osta also arranged "Zapateado," a composition of violinist Sarasate who, incidentally, was born in Pamplona, the native city of the Osta's mother.

The dancer's costuming was also lovely as particularly in "El Gato" and in "Las Huarakas." The material in the latter was genuine llama wool.

This program was presented by the Victoria College Summer Session and is to be followed by a number of others in the next few weeks.

If the balance is as fine, Victoria College Summer Session is in for a wonderful season.

Bit Older, but Never Better

Proof positive of the benefits of Victoria Drill Team membership are five attractive "veterans" above, back in city for team's big reunion Friday at Empress Hotel. Addresses tell story of reunion's scope. Left to right, with maiden names in brackets, are Eileen (Harling), Malcolm, Portland; Mary (MacArthur) Bartlett, Montreal; Mary (MacGregor) Mackenzie, Kingston; Margaret (Hall) Hallam, Camp Shilo, Man., and Doreen (Anderson) Anderson, Juneau, Alaska. Princess Just Kept on Going

'Flap' for Nothing

By G. E. MORTIMORE

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D'Arcy McGee spent a frantic hour and a half Monday night preparing to receive Princess Margaret.

But the Princess never came. The royal car drove past the McGees' gate at 7:55 Sea View Road, and the party spent close to two hours on the beach at Smugglers' Cove.

DISAPPOINTED

The McGees, and their bitterly disappointed daughters, Margaret, 5, and Kathy, 6½, still don't know what happened.

It began with a telephone call at 8 p.m. Monday from Ruth MacLean, secretary to Mrs. Frank Ross, wife of British Columbia's lieutenant-governor.

"Princess Margaret would like to come out to your house for a swim and a stroll by the sea, about 9:30 tonight," said Miss MacLean.

MUCH EXCITED

The McGees, who had been entertaining guests for a swim in their pool and were about to have dinner with two naval officers from HMS Newcastle, were much excited at the honor.

With the help of two naval officers, they hustled about getting ready.

At 10 p.m. Mr. McGee was at his gate when he saw the royal car sweep by. He thought the party might take a brief side-trip and return later.

STILL AT COVE

By 11:30 he realized that the Princess wasn't coming. He sent someone down to the cove, and received word that the party was still there.

He took the two naval officers back to their ship. In the excitement, they had missed their dinner.

About midnight the royal car went past again on the return trip.

No word was conveyed to the McGees as to why the promised visit was cancelled.

WHAT HAPPENED?

Mr. McGee, confirming details of the story, said: "I don't want any publicity about it. But I would like to know what happened."

"The Princess wouldn't know anything about it. I don't suppose this Miss McLean was in the caravan that brought the Princess to the beach. And I realize that the people in charge of these things must be busy. But I'm still puzzled."

Mr. McGee is a great-grandson of Thomas D'Arcy McGee, one of the Fathers of Confederation.

Victorians Appointed To B.C. Committee

Provincial cabinet has appointed two Victoria men to a committee serving under the Education of Soldiers' Dependent Children Act. They are A. Palmer, 1638 Hollywood Crescent, and G. C. Goater, 1960 Taylor. Third member is J. J. Townsend of Vancouver.

Thanks, Victoria —Princess

"Most sincere thanks and appreciation" of Princess Margaret for the gold centennial medal given to her by Greater Victoria were expressed in a letter received by Mayor Percy C. Scott yesterday.

The medal, minted for the Victoria Numismatic Society, was presented by the mayor on behalf of the Greater Victoria celebrations committee.

"The princess was delighted to receive this unique and beautifully wrought example of numismatic art, which will always remind her of her presence at the centennial celebrations of the province, and the happy occasion of yesterday morning," her private secretary wrote.

VANCOUVER (CP)—John W. Richey, education director of the Washington Temperance Association, says that women become alcoholics in about half the time it takes a man to become one.

Mr. Richey told the four-day School of Alcohol Studies at the University of British Columbia Tuesday a woman will put up with an alcoholic husband much longer than a man with an alcohol wife.

Ike Sorry His Golf Not So Hot

OTTAWA (CP)—A letter from President Eisenhower, expressing conviction in the strength of Canada-U.S. friendship and apologizing for the golf he played here, was read Wednesday to the Senate.

"This visit has been both valuable and important," the president said in his letter. "I return to Washington with a renewed conviction that our countries are strong in our friendship and that we have the good will and understanding necessary to work out any differences that may arise between us."

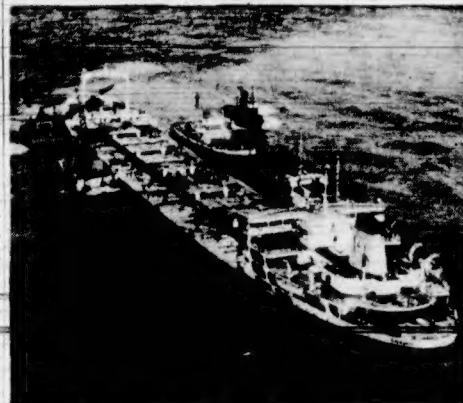

"And of course, not the least of the pleasure of my contacts with you was on the golf course. I thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon, although I do wish I could have exhibited a little better game." (He shot a 90.)

Automobile Sales Continue to Sag

OTTAWA (UPI)—Motor vehicle sales in May totalled 46,844 units, down 14.1 per cent from last year's 54,527 units, the bureau of statistics said Wednesday.

The May figure brought total sales for the first five months of the year to 200,547 units. A year ago, the figure was 220,720.

The retail value of passenger cars and commercial vehicles sold in May was $146,671,000, down 10.1 per cent from $163,236,000 a year ago. For the January-May period, sales totalled $618,371,000 versus $666,863,000.

Biggest Salvage Job

Largest salvage operation on Canada's east coast was completed recently when tugs escorted 29,500-ton ore carrier Cosmic—worth $8,000,000—into Halifax. Ship ran aground in Gulf of St. Lawrence. After 14,000 tons of ore were removed and damaged side plates repaired, ship was refloated and made it to port under own power.—(CPC)

Commonwealth United On Middle East Policy?

LONDON (CP)—Opposition spokesmen, mindful of serious policy rifts during the Suez crisis, are pressing the government and will make her position clear in the debate there."

The Earl of Home, secretary of state for Commonwealth relations, Tuesday gave George has the full consent of her Commonwealth partners in her attitude toward the landing of U.S. Marines in the Lebanon.

During question time in the House of Commons Tuesday, both Labor and Liberal members repeatedly questioned Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd for details of his discussions with Canada and other Commonwealth governments before Britain gave her blessing to the U.S. action.

DEEP DIVISION

When British troops were sent to the Suez Canal in October, 1956, the Commonwealth governments were deeply divided in their attitude toward the move.

There were loud cheers from opposition benches when the Liberal party leader, Jo Grimond, asked Lloyd if the government's decision to support the Lebanon landings had Commonwealth approval.

SPEAK FOR SELVES

Lloyd replied: "We have been in touch with the Commonwealth." As opposition members chorused, "answer the question," the foreign secretary continued: "It is for the Commonwealth governments to speak for themselves."

Later Frederick Lee, a parliamentary secretary in the last Labor government, asked Lloyd to say definitely whether Prime Minister Diefenbaker and other Commonwealth prime ministers "had been fully apprised of the government's intention to make their statement."

Lloyd replied: "Canada is a member of the Security Council

Racing Police Warn County About Rocket

SALISBURY, England (CP)—Police cars raced through Wiltshire County Tuesday warning villagers over loudspeakers to look out for a live rocket accidentally dropped from a plane.

Police said the rocket would explode when exposed to electricity or anything that generates electricity.

Details of the accident were not disclosed.

Police said the warning came from Boscombe Down, where there is an RAF base.

MINISTER PROTESTS

A minister from Alberta, who declined to give his name, walked out in protest against the demonstration.

"I am a Christian minister," he said. "There is no need for human beings to imbibe and get drunk—to be guinea pigs."

BREATHALYZER

A demonstration of the breathalyzer for detecting impaired and drunken drivers was also given Tuesday.

Two human "guinea pigs" drank 12 ounces of rye with mixer and then flunked a simulated driving test and pushed their breathalyzer reading into the danger level, more than .05 per cent.

E. D. McRae, executive director of the Alcoholism Foundation of B.C., earlier called for legislation making a reading of .05 per cent or more a criminal offence.

The Middle East

If the events in Lebanon and Iraq were domestic turmoils of purely internal interest, there might be small concern for a West which will have to learn that Arab nationalism is on the upsurge and will not be halted and that persuasion and not coercion must be the core of diplomatic policy. They are far from that, however. They are unmistakably aimed at the West, primarily so in a sense, in the buildup of animosity and overt action prompted by the Nasser regime in Cairo. As a result the whole position of the West in the Middle East is at stake, with incalculable consequences to the peace of the world.

Hence the sudden intervention of U.S. marines in Lebanon, in conformity with the Eisenhower doctrine designed to protect pro-Western Arab states against aggression. It is the Iraq revolt and deposition of the Feisal regime which has spurred U.S. action. Lebanon has been in tumult for weeks but only now has America invoked the forthright action of U.S. intervention is ever present, although there are good reasons for doubt that the Soviet Union feels disposed to clash with the U.S. in open conflict. Having intervened, however, the Eisenhower policy should be pursued without hesitation to the limit that restores order and the legitimate governments of Lebanon and Iraq, with no shadow of a repetition of the Suez fiasco. Another weak withdrawal would mean the end of Western influence and security in the whole Middle East, possibly with disastrous consequences looming for the future.

Mr. Eisenhower has stated that the U.S. is in Lebanon until the United Nations is able to take over and control the situation. It seems apparent therefore that a duplication of the Palestinian UNEF will be required if the UN is to come to effective grips with events, and a force fashioned on a bigger scale and charged with more real military authority. Whatever eventuates, timidity and over-cautious action will be of no avail.

Two Out of Three Below Par

If young men who offer their services to the army may be regarded as representative of the physical and mental standards of the male population, then Canada has something to worry about. Statistics concerning recruitment presented to the estimates committee of the House of Commons leave one wondering as to the value being received from the vast sums of money this country spends on health and education.

Because of the demands made on mind and body by the highly specialized training for army service today, the army's requirements in intelligence and physique are much higher than they were in grandfather's day; but they still are not so high as to exclude any young man of what may be called normal attainments. It is with a sense of shock, therefore, that one reads of two out of every three applicants for enlistment being rejected for medical reasons. Out of about 23,000 would-be soldiers, only 7,560 were deemed by the examiners to be fit for service.

More disturbing still is the discovery of his consuming ambition of uniting all Arabs against the West. The West can scarcely be expected to continue to sit idly by while this goes on.

The operations of the U.S. marines are limited, so far. They are ashore as a stand-by to the hard-pressed Lebanese government which is struggling to regain control. Indirectly they may serve as a warning to Iraqi rebels. They should help to buttress the Jordan government, although King Hussein, facing the same Nasser-prompted elements which overthrew his cousin in Iraq, is unlikely to hold his ground without direct help on the scene. Hovering in the background is Russia, quick to take advantage of every facet of the situation and undoubtedly lending encouragement to the rebellious Arab groups and to Nasser's Arab Republic.

The risk of a general upheaval embracing the major powers in consequence of U.S. intervention is ever present, although there are good reasons for doubt that the Soviet Union feels disposed to clash with the U.S. in open conflict. Having intervened, however, the Eisenhower policy should be pursued without hesitation to the limit that restores order and the legitimate governments of Lebanon and Iraq, with no shadow of a repetition of the Suez fiasco. Another weak withdrawal would mean the end of Western influence and security in the whole Middle East, possibly with disastrous consequences looming for the future.

that of those turned down, almost half failed to meet academic standards or to pass aptitude tests. In other words, one out of every three applicants was either mentally below average or lacked education—in a country where opportunities for education are unsurpassed. These young men were deemed to be of marginal intelligence, incapable of responding to basic training and performing menial tasks, better known in the army as fatigues. Any old soldier knows how little brain power those call for.

A comparison with rejection percentages in the United States makes the picture even worse. There in the past year 37 per cent of potential recruits were turned down for much the same reasons that 67 per cent were rejected in Canada. This, unfortunately, isn't the first time that Canada has been confronted with grim facts about the health of its youth. With everything we have in this favored land we should be able to produce the fittest, brightest young men in the world. What has gone wrong?

After all, he was a naval officer during the war and this breed is seldom fazed by a crisis. As a matter of fact, he served aboard a Canadian vessel, albeit being RNRV, and commanded her at the end of hostilities. He showed me a small picture of her, the minesweeper Flying Fish.

I asked him if he were armed on duty and he replied "of course" adding, "but not ostentatiously so." This is the secret of the protection extended to Princess Margaret by Scotland Yard unobtrusiveness.

You would note this during the Princess' visit. Guardian eyes kept close watch all round, yet even so the British tradition allowed spectators to press closely. Certainly any one of a thousand persons bent on ill will was in a position to do harm. Not even Chief Inspector Crocker could have stopped them in time.

How different from the surroundings of an American president. Were Mr. Eisenhower to drive along Douglas Street he would be ringed visibly by an armed force of large dimensions.

There is, fortunately, no modern history associated with British royalty; however, hence the seemingly causal security measures each time a member of the reigning house is about.

There will be a certain amount of risk to this policy, I suppose, but obviously the public is trusted.

Another thing I asked the chief inspector was if he were married. He said no and I gather he thought bachelorhood preferable under the circumstances. Royal service is a demanding assignment with little free time.

He did not say so, but I was reminded of a remark made by Marion Crawford in her tender book on the two princesses who were so long in her charge. It was to the effect that royalty seemed unaware that those who surrounded them had lives of their own to live.

Chief Inspector Crocker seemed quite happy in his assignment, however, which he has held during the past five years. Except in the privacy of a friend's home or within the conclaves of Buckingham Palace he is the unobtrusive shadow of Princess Margaret.

I asked about Balmoral, to which the Princess will go immediately after she returns to Britain. Here if anywhere, surely, in the Scottish highlands among retainers and villagers of long acquaintance with royalty, she would enjoy a mood of unrestricted freedom even in the public domain.

Once that was so, apparently, but not now. The motor age has turned the Balmoral district, once a retreat that made picnicking on the hillside or at the river's edge a delightfully informal affair free from prying eyes, into a top tourist attraction. And when royalty is known to be in residence the cars and busses arrive by the score.

Many people believe that had it not been for Dulles' part in that, Nasser would have been overthrown within a few days. Instead, he was handed a triumph and relations between the United States and Britain were seriously strained.

A Centennial Reward

PERHAPS overlooked in the excitement of the royal visit and the crisis developing in the Middle East was the publication two days ago of the names of 50 Victorians selected to receive centennial medals. Chosen in privacy by a sub-committee of the Greater Victoria centennial committee, the individuals in question are honored for their contributions to the community life of this area. The medals will be presented at a ceremony to be held in Beacon Hill Park.

Agonizing Review for Dulles

By CHARLES McCANN
UPI Foreign News Analyst

UNITED States policy in the Middle East appears to be threatened with virtual collapse.

The revolt in Iraq constitutes a diplomatic defeat that could turn into a disaster. It threatens to cripple the Middle East treaty organization—the Baghdad Pact—which the United States sponsored as part of its long chain of alliances against Russian Communist aggression.

It seriously weakens any real meaning which the Eisenhower doctrine planned to strengthen pro-Western governments of the Middle East, might have had.

It is a victory for President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the new United Arab Republic, who aspires to make himself the head man of the entire Arab world. In that it adds to the general turmoil in the Middle East. It is a victory for Soviet Russia's policy of penetration and subversion in the Arab states.

It seems not too much to suggest that Secretary of State Dulles must now face the necessity for a really agonizing review of American policy.

Critics of State Department policy might go back three years in tracing a course of events which can not be separated from the crises in Lebanon and Iraq. First, there is the Baghdad Pact. Dulles conceived that pact and the United States strongly sponsored it.

But the United States refused to join. It has adhered to various committees of the Middle East treaty organization, but has rejected frequent strong appeals that it become a full member.

Then came Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal in 1956. Dulles sponsored a strong program of reprisals by canal-using countries. But he backed down, step by step, until the program became meaningless.

In November, 1956, Israel attacked Egypt. Britain and France seized the opportunity to demand a ceasefire and, when it did not come about, they attacked the canal zone. The United States angrily denounced the attack and led the United Nations in forcing Britain and France to withdraw.

Many people believe that had it not been for Dulles' part in that, Nasser would have been overthrown within a few days. Instead, he was handed a triumph and relations between the United States and Britain were seriously strained.

"This apparently is the kind of government the Dominicans want," says a U.S. congressman.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I HAD an interesting chat three days ago with Chief Inspector Crocker, the Scotland Yard officer responsible for the security of Princess Margaret. He is a soft-voiced, friendly, cultured chap, far removed from the conventional notion of a policeman. The conventional notion is wrong anyway nowadays, as social contact with some of Victoria's own up-and-coming young police officers makes clear.

But the chief inspector, without whom the Princess' entourage is never complete, is more the barrister type, or, even, a doctor or let's say a librarian. Doubtless, however, he can put a swift edge to his voice and move like lightning in an emergency.

After all, he was a naval officer during the war and this breed is seldom fazed by a crisis. As a matter of fact, he served aboard a Canadian vessel, albeit being RNRV, and commanded her at the end of hostilities. He showed me a small picture of her, the minesweeper Flying Fish.

Such counters also detect a kind of ionizing radiation which comes in constantly from outer space. These cosmic rays have been striking the earth with terrific energy since time immemorial.

What is new is the means by which they have been detected and the steps being taken to duplicate them. The first step was the accidental discovery of mysterious rays generated by some apparatus set up in 1896 by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen. Fortunately he had the training and intelligence to realize what he had stumbled upon.

Questions constantly arise whether nuclear fission testing and other releases of nuclear energy affect the weather.

There has always been some radiation; thus far, man's contribution to radiant energy has been very small. Most experienced observers do not believe that even the most powerful of atomic or hydrogen bombs has ever begun to approach the energy released by nature through electrical storms and other natural phenomena.

Man, animals, birds, plants, fish, and other marine life as well as bacteria, fungi and molds have been able to live successfully in our atmosphere with the normal amount of radiation.

It is apparent, therefore, that danger from radiation rests upon a quantitative basis. Life on the earth has adjusted itself to radiation and to the variations which occur between sea level and higher altitudes even including flights into upper reaches of the atmosphere and other conditions by a human volunteer.

He did not say so, but I was reminded of a remark made by Marion Crawford in her tender book on the two princesses who were so long in her charge. It was to the effect that royalty seemed unaware that those who surrounded them had lives of their own to live.

Atomic Radiation

Can We Live With It?

III. Radiation in Nature

By W. W. BAUER, MD

Director of Health Education

A to mention again that radiations are not something new. Uranium and radium have always existed in nature as constituents of minerals like pitchblende. Pierre and Marie Curie extracted from the raw mineral certain chemical elements that had always existed in it. The ionizing radiations that are constantly being given off by uranium and radium can be detected with Geiger counters in the mines where pitchblende is obtained.

Such counters also detect a kind of ionizing radiation which comes in constantly from outer space. These cosmic rays have been striking the earth with terrific energy since time immemorial.

Not Inspiring

Congratulations to your reporter and your paper for the honest and perhaps bold criticism of the way in which the Brownies and Girl Guides were ignored by the thoughtless planners of the recent tour by the Princess.

Whether in ignorance or not, this kind of treatment of the young people is not conducive to inspiring the loyalty to the Crown which is no doubt the original purpose behind the tour.

My own girls were almost heartbroken when they arrived home, hot and tired and frustrated.

R. S. LAWRENCE.

Unrewarded Wait

After my wife, who is a Guide and Brownie worker, spent a sleepless night because of the way the Brownies and Girl Guides had been treated in their attempt to help to welcome Princess Margaret, I told her that perhaps it was a good thing.

At least many of those girls will in the future be more realistic in their approach to very important events and people. They may temper their emotions more when it comes to future drum-beating and flag-waving, regardless of the occasion, and that is good.

Unfortunately the situation raises the question of what adults and for what motives were responsible for the long unrewarded wait by so many young girls and their leaders.

Army of Photographers

Is it really necessary to have over 30 press photographers covering an occasion such as Her Royal Highness' entrance and exit to the Cathedral?

With many other people I stood on the steps to see her, but our view was obscured by the army of the press. When she was standing talking in the dean, giving everyone a chance to see her, the car was surrounded by the press and their paraphernalia so that the crowd, which had been waiting for hours, caught only a glimpse.

The press get paid for their work, but the crowd, most of whom had come from a distance, were there to show their loyalty and affection.

Smile with Jerry

Among the many excellent shows put on in Victoria this memorable week, I would like to point out Mr. Jerry Gosley's "Smile Show" as a "must." It is a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment, well organized and with an experienced cast, it is typical of the music halls of England and one cannot but admire the tremendous effort this group has put into presenting so varied a program.

One song, among many good ones, is Mr. Gosley's own composition, "We Belong to British Columbia." It was excellently sung by Mr. W. G. Curtis with sympathy, vigor and force, and one felt very proud of our pioneers, together with a feeling of faith and reliance in those who will continue to build this lovely province.

No Right to Criticize

If the people of Saanich continue to display such a lack of interest in municipal affairs, they have no right to criticize the actions or lack of action of their council. Only those who attend meetings and inform themselves of the current issues and problems, before voting, are qualified to complain of the state of the municipality.

Those who conscientiously fulfill their obligations as reeve and councillors do so at great expense of their leisure time, and get little encouragement and much criticism, which are the main reasons for the lack of qualified candidates.

The establishment of the position of municipal manager is the only logical solution to our problems, but until that time comes all Saanich residents are urged to take an interest in their municipal affairs by encouraging the council, attending council meetings and, most important, turning out to vote.

Princess Charming Gone

Courtenay Says Goodbye With 'Country Fair' Day

By EILEEN LEAROYD
Colonist Staff Reporter

The Princess Charming left us yesterday. Her last memories of the Island were colored in air force-blue and red Indian warpaint.

On the last, and hottest day of the royal tour of the Island she several times put her hand to her brow in the heat, met looked as hot as we did. Nine Indian chiefs, was at one point tucked into the royal car with a wool blanket around her knees, and saw Indian women garbed in cedar boughs, dancing in nylon-stocking feet.

CHEERING THRONG

Early in the afternoon she arrived to a cheering throng at Comox RCAF station in a little Mallard flying a miniature of the Royal Standard, and wearing a shiny robes decorated with abalone shells and all manner of shiny ornaments—rattled their ankles, and the whole park went wild.

Her Royal Highness did not bat a royal eyelash when she received two totem poles, gifts cut-down cartoon marked a large letters.

Most touching moment came This was a chemise-type frock when the beautiful Indian child of tussore silk, beige back presented her flowers instead ground, printed with yellow, of stepping back and down the pink and green flowers. Her was a toque of mushroom-colored crushed tulip.

Lewis Park, Courtenay, had all the relaxed gaiety of a country fair. It was the least of official spot of the tour.

Arriving early at the park, we saw the backstage preparations before the Act One curtain.

INDIAN BABIES TOO

Indians were busy applying lipstick-warpaint to their faces. Little Indian babies were being made up too.

Behind the dais, Mrs. Geoffrey Kirk was busy fluffing out the skirts of pretty 10-year-old Sharlene Ann Assu, Indian girl from Cape Mudge who was to present the Princess with a bouquet.

"They are red roses for loyalty," said Sharlene, who had long ringlets reaching to her shoulders and wore a charming frock of wedgewood blue. She is the great-granddaughter of Chief Billy Assu.

GIANT JUG

A giant two-gallon jug of water was placed on the dais behind the Princess' chair with the day so hot that somehow everyone watched that bottle of water. The Princess did not drink any.

When the Princess arrived with her red-coated outriders, we who were taking salt tablets, wondered how she managed to look so cool, and so

Hair, Green For Marines

CALIF. (UPI) — The hair of a number of United States marines may soon match the color of their uniforms, if they don't watch out.

Officials here warned blond-haired leathernecks that, with repeated dousings, the high chlorine content of the camp's swimming pools could turn their hair to a marine corps green.

Yukon Bill Major Step

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons Wednesday gave second and third readings to a bill which has been described as a "very firm and long step" toward provincial status for the Yukon Territory.

The bill's main provisions facilitate borrowing by municipalities and school districts from the territorial council. Municipalities would be able to enter more widely into low-rental housing, paving and hospital construction.

B.C. ELECTRIC

NEWMARKET, Ont.—The quiet streets of Newmarket were invaded by more than 30 black-jacketed teen-agers yesterday who roared into town on their motorcycles to form chapter in connection with a midnight party on a farm.

The motorcyclists enjoyed the sensations they created and paraded the main street posing for photographers and laughing. Later, gaiety was somewhat subdued when 23 teenage boys and girls were convicted of trespassing and fined $10 each by Magistrate O. S. Holmurae.

Others were fined an extra $20 for possessing liquor while under age.

Markham Township police constable Robert Hood testified he was called to the farm of Frank Reesor and found "some sort of wild party going on." He said groups of motorcycle parties were scattered through the bush and dozens of empty beer bottles were strewn across the fields.

OTTAWA — One of the Commonwealth's newest and most interesting leaders, Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana, arrives in Montreal Saturday to start a four-day visit.

NEW YORK—Oscar Hammerstein II has been taken to hospital suffering from recurrence of an intestinal disturbance. The winter of the woods of many Broadway musical hits is 63.

WASHINGTON — Textile tycoon Bernard Goldfine, 67, has confirmed his telephoned presidential assistant Sherman Adams 43 times in a recent six-month period, and intimated that Adams may have called him about as often.

HOLLYWOOD — Oscar Levant, acid-tongued commentator on the passing scene, says he is trying to kiss and make up with his estranged wife, June, but she will have nothing to do with him. "I'm the Sherman Adams of the husbands," Oscar explained. "I behaved imprudently—but I loved her."

NEW YORK—A counsel for Liberace, TV and nightclubs pianist, says he has accepted $10,000 in settlement of his libel suit against Confidential Magazine, former scandal publication.

LONDON — Henry Kingsland, 31, has been warned by his doctors if he smokes within the next two weeks his left eye will balloon out like a tennis ball again. Kingsland fell off his bicycle and cracked a tiny bone at the top of the nose, which blocked the nostril and deflected air into his eye. When he blows his nose or sneezes, the eye balloons.

WASHINGTON — Deputy Under Secretary of State Robert D. Murphy broke off testimony before the Senate foreign relations committee yesterday to answer an urgent summons from Secretary Dulles to fly to Lebanon.

OTTAWA — Canada's former labor minister, Milton F. Gregg, VC, has reported himself as safe in Baghdad, capital of Iraq.

OTTAWA — The winning of $1,000 Bowater awards in journalism by Jack Scott, columnist and feature writer of the Vancouver Sun, and Michael Barkway, Ottawa correspondent for The Financial Post, has been announced.

LONDON (CP) — Thirty Canadian debutantes bobbed and shakily curtsied Wednesday in a dress rehearsal for the Royal Garden party Thursday.

The debas, together with 10 Commonwealth others who couldn't make the practice run at the residence of Mrs. George Drew, wife of Canada's high commissioner, are about curtsying is that my last Canadians to get the knees always crack loudly honor of being presented at when I bent?" After their presentation, the girls will join several thousand other guests on the lawns at the palace for cakes and tea.

Because of the Queen's illness, the debas will perform their curtsies for the Duke of Edinburgh and the Queen Mother to-day.

Naturists Open Gate To Public

The Sol Sante Club, nudist colony, will be open to the public Saturday starting at 5 p.m.

A club press release says the open house is "due to the widespread interest in Sol Sante."

Members will be clothed and will show visitors about, discuss the movement, and later show color slides depicting camp life.

Persons under 21 must be accompanied by an adult. Directions are to drive to Mill Bay on the Island Highway, take the Shawnessy Lake-Mill Bay Road, and follow the arrows to the club grounds. Anyone wishing further information may telephone Cobble Hill 143 R.R. 3.

Bert Thomas Planning Channel Round Trip

DOVER, England (AP)—Bert Thomas, 32-year-old swimmer from Portland, Ore., said yesterday he hopes to make the first round-trip, non-stop swim of the English Channel in about two weeks.

Thomas, the first man to swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca between British Columbia and Washington State, said:

"I plan to step up my daily work until late in July. Then I'll make the attempt. I won't sleep but two or three minutes ashore after making the first leg and before I start back."

"If I walk on land any longer it would upset my swimming rhythm."

1,500 Men Fighting 202 B.C. Forest Fires

More than 1,500 men are fighting 202 forest fires in B.C.

Figures issued late yesterday showed 15 new fires in the Vancouver forest district (including Vancouver Island) in the preceding 24 hours, and 33 burning. These fires were being fought by 274 forest service men and 258 company employees.

'Only Act of God' Should Cut Link

City council has been asked to pass a resolution in support of one sent to Prime Minister Diefenbaker by Port Alberni to disrupt ferry service between Vancouver Island and the Mainland according to the Port Alberni resolution.

The resolution said that "the treatment meted out to this Island is not in accord with the arrangements promised and pledges made and contracted at the time of its union with the mainland of British Columbia and the Dominion."

The now disrupted ferry service is definitely a part of the Trans-Canada Highway and therefore should not be affected or blocked under any circumstances other than an act of God.

The situation is grave and we would therefore humbly request that you give this matter your immediate, personal and serious attention, implementing remedial measures forthwith."

Port Alberni council sent the resolution by telegram to the prime minister and asked Victoria, in a letter received yesterday, to take similar action.

Chief Warns Of Fires Set By Children

Langford Fire Chief Rod Bayles has a word of warning for parents of any children caught setting fires in bushland of that area; the parents may be assessed the costs of firefighting.

Chief Bayles pointed out that due to extreme dryness, there is at present a complete forest closure. Unfortunately, the dry weather causing the closure, he said, often seems to cause a rash of bush blazes traceable to children seeking excitement.

The law, he pointed out, also provides substantial penalties for anyone convicted of deliberately setting fires.

New Tom Boy Supermarket at Royal Oak Shopping Centre embodies latest food store facilities.

After ten years of serving the Royal Oak district, Charles and Lu Orchard continually found their business growing to the point where a new large store was an absolute necessity.

In this new venture they are joined by John Pepper, for many years a Retail Supervisor for The W. H. Malkins Company Limited, supply house for the Tom Boy organization. Arnold Fisher is the Meat Department Manager.

The meat department features self-service which is supplied from an assembly line of cutting and wrapping—special emphasis on quality, selling red brand beef—government-inspected meats and poultry. This self-service meat department retains direct contact with the consumer, many special cuts being readily available. There is a complete selection of frozen foods and, like the meat department, this has a special service to home freezer owners.

The produce department features local produce in season, with direct trailer service from California for other merchandise.

Another incentive to customers is that they have no trouble with door-pulling or pushing as they leave the store with arms full of parcels. The exit door is automatically controlled to open as it is approached.

All in all—this market is a fine addition to the rapidly growing Royal Oak Shopping Centre.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

It has been brought to my attention that a well-known referee in his own right has made the suggestion that my opinions on the refereeing in the Inter-City Lacrosse League, as laid out here Sunday, were prompted by the fact that Victoria Shamrocks have been, so far at least, a losing club this season. The suggestion is about as ridiculous as its source.

ICLL refereeing this season is certainly hurting the Shamrocks, but so what more is it hurting the other three clubs? Besides, as the ICLL has been known this season has been played in Victoria, it would not be difficult to think that perhaps the Shamrocks have had a slight edge from game officials, a view not likely to be supported by many city fans.

But whether or not such is the case, it remains a fact that the refereeing has been unacceptable had. And it's a fact, too, that almost all fans who attend games regularly and almost all team officials subscribe to the same opinion.

Among those who feel most strongly that refereeing is not nearly what it should be are officials of the New Westminster Salmonbellies who have led for most of the season and on the basis of some reasoning, have less to complain about than the other clubs.

Salmonbellies have sent a lengthy letter to the other three clubs in an effort to try and do something about what they feel is extremely bad refereeing and there is every chance that some kind of action will be taken. At least, officials of Vancouver Pilgrims and Nanaimo Timbermen as well as the Shamrocks feel that something should be done.

And so does Bill Workman, former secretary of the British Columbia Lacrosse Association, who writes from Vancouver: "A very good friend of mine in Victoria who is also interested in lacrosse sent me a clipping of your editorial of July 13 and I must say you have hit the nail on the head in all cases."

Workman, an ardent fan who worked hard for the situation which is directly responsible for the lack of competent officiating.

A former president of the New Westminster club, Workman had been secretary of the BCLA for more than three years when he resigned last month in protest over the handling of the Bill Ballou case by the Inter-City Lacrosse commission.

Workman was appointed chairman of the rules committee at the Canadian Lacrosse Association meeting in Victoria last year and acting on suggestions from referees and other lacrosse officials was responsible for a new CLA rule which said that any player striking or hitting violent hands upon any referee during official competition would receive an AUTOMATIC one-year suspension from the date of the offence.

When the ICLL commission decided on the first occasion where this rule applied it to a big-game suspension instead of the full year, Workman immediately resigned.

One of the main reasons why I feel I cannot concur in this kind of punishment is the fact that it is my firm conviction that had the player been one of less prominence the automatic one-year suspension would have been meted out and taken effect immediately," Workman said in his letter of resignation.

His resignation is additional proof that refereeing is no stronger than its league and that the men who control the ICLL are responsible for the weakness of its game officials.

The BCLA is supposed to rule and govern ALL lacrosse in B.C. and, of course, the BCLA is ruled and governed by the national body, the CLA. Workman writes: "However, I have been forced to the conclusion that the BCLA is a powerless body and that the sooner we realize it the better. Under the present set-up the ICLL is composed of a representative from Victoria, one from Nanaimo, one from New Westminster and two from Vancouver. They are supposed to be strictly neutral and impartial, but in my opinion that is impossible under the present set-up."

That it must be agreed seems absolutely correct and it is to be hoped that if ICLL clubs are planning to do something to improve officiating in their games that they start by putting together a strong executive.

And if they can accomplish that then they should let the executive run the league without interference from club of clubs, many of whom have helped make a weak executive weaker by constantly pressuring for rulings which benefit their own clubs and by too much public criticism of their own operations. The root of the trouble about officiating is at the top.

Lions Shift Chapman; Vicic Latest Arrival

KELOWNA — Coach Clem Chapman's fullbacks to compete for the Lions still look like for a running mate for all American Howie Schindlberger yesterday moved Canadian kicking star Vic Chapman to offensive right end as the Lions continued training for the coming Western Conference football season.

Schindlberger is considered a certainty for the left end position opposite 1957 all-star By Bailey. The others are rookie Duke Washington and John "Beast" Bayuk.

While gaining Vic, the Lions have apparently lost import centre Pete Brown, who hasn't recovered from a head injury suffered earlier in the week.

Lions held their first inter-squad game Saturday, with the Lions playing the Pugs. First exhibition game will be against Calgary Stampeders July 26.

Waner Resigns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Milwaukee Braves have announced that Paul Waner has resigned as their batting coach because of ill health.

Severson Sets Up Irish Win—Helps Bradshaw Break Slump

BY JIM TANG

Victoria Shamrocks regained third place in the Inter-City Lacrosse League last night mainly because they "found" a fellow they had all along who could set up the plays in something the same manner Jack Blonda did it for them last season.

Shamrocks slapped down the Nanaimo Timbermen, 14-7, before 2,625 fans at Memorial Arena and leading the way was Newcomer Tommy Durelle, 14, who scored five goals and had 10 assists.

None other than coach Whitey Severson, who set what he believed to be a league record by making the pass for no less than eight goals. And every assist was earned.

Severson's passing accuracy brought Pee Wee Bradshaw out of his slump the day after coming up with his most productive game of the season by scoring five goals.

Bradshaw had his best season last year, when he scored 46 times and helped on 53 other goals. Slowed by the severe attack of flu he battled at the start of the season and obviously missing Blonda's play along, Bradshaw just couldn't get going in old form until last night.

At of his goals came on almost identical plays from his neck which found the pass from Severson waiting followed by a quick shot. Severson assisted on all five of Bradshaw's goals, passed to Jackie Northup for two goals and to Bert Bertola for one.

NEW LAURELS

Bertola also won himself new laurels with another exhibition of the great shooting which is giving him his heat-ever season.

He had goals and 10 assists and his fifth goal past the Nanaimo goalie for five goals, running to 31 his total for the season. It was the third game this season in which Bertola had scored five or more goals.

Also deserving of special mention was Al Gill whose return to action a few games back has boosted Shamrock stock considerably. Gill didn't figure in the scoring but his blocking made possible many of the Victoria goals anyone was getting the ball from the draw more often than not, holding his own with Terry Peltay perhaps the league's best at facing off.

Bradshaw and Bertola accounted for the Shamrocks' first 10 goals, putting the Victoria club ahead 9-2 with their great play and each getting a fifth goal when the Timbermen seemed as if they might be starting a rally.

NORTHUP BREAKS OUT

After Bradshaw's fifth goal in the first minute of the fourth quarter had brought the score to 10-6 to just about end Nanaimo hopes of pulling it out, Jackie Northup ended a personal slump by scoring three times, the first on a well placed shot to a top corner, the second and third on passes from Saverson on the odd man play.

Shamrocks scored five goals on the odd man play, Bertola getting three in a row in the second quarter to run the score from 12-7 to 12-12. Timbermen got three goals with the odd man but they were beaten last night because they were exhausted and outshone, and because they couldn't find a way to stop Severson's passing accuracy.

Play toughened in the final quarter after Don Aspinwall bowed over George Johnston when the Victoria goalie tried to play the ball behind his goal.

MUSCLE INJURY

Johnnie Moore came up short in the eighth inning, being hit in the face by a pitch in the eighth. But one of the hits was a home run by rookie Jerry Lumpe which followed a single by Norm Sieben and a walk to Mickey Mantle.

Chicago White Sox beat Baltimore, 6-1, in the first game of a doubleheader but lost again because they couldn't find a way to stop Severson's passing accuracy.

Market Rise
Falters
At New York

NEW YORK (AP) - A strong

stock market followed the

the international news on Wednesday, but the list still managed a moderate advance on average.

A continued advance by oil, both international and domestic was chilled by news that Russia had demanded the United States pull its marines out of Lebanon.

The day was marked by a strong upturn in aircrafts which still held fair gains in the nose. The aircrafts rose by steel, aluminum metals and "war babies" generally.

Ricfield Oil clipped 2¢ from its 7-point rise of Tuesday. Most of the international oils dropped fractionally.

Big Pipeline Gain

TORONTO (CP) - Profit-

taking hit the stock market near the close but despite the falling the market was generally ahead in fairly active trading.

Texas Mountain Pipe Line

prices showed considerable volatility and oscillation in the 65 points at 67. The lossed six points BA Oil was influc-ted by developments in the Middle East.

The oils advanced strongly as they continued to react to the Middle East crisis but when indication at New York seemed more profit-taking appeared there. Most issues lost fractions over the 62.

New Horizons was the most active, trading 319,190 shares. The stock climbed to a high of $1.45 on rumors that results of the company's third drill hole were good, 44 closed ahead 30 cents at 58.00.

Among industrials 1 point was won by Ford A at 80¢ and Dominion Sheds at 71.

Golds were easier as Melville dipped 7¢ to 75¢ and six other issues were down a few cents.

Base metals were up as Edi-burgh and Consolidated

Mining gained 1¢ and Labrador

Industrials Advance

MONTREAL (CP) - A modest

turnover left industrial issues

generally stronger.

Lows were almost as inci-tic as highs in the 100 points in the 67 points at 68 cents down 4 cents. But New Horizons was up 10 cents at 59.00.

Western oils were strong led by Pacific Petroleum at 19¢ a gallon of 2.

Petroleum oils and pipelines base metals and miscellaneous issues gained. Texas Mountain at 67 gained 5 points. Imperial Oil was up 1¢ to 46 and International Nickel at 75 was up

Mines Turn Lower

VANCOUVER - Oils were strong with Pacific Petroleum

$19, Canadian Atlantic 6.75

Hume Oil $19.50 and Uniford

7.22. Texas Mountain featured industries with another five points rise to 70¢ while Westminster Petrol advanced half a point to 8.7.

Mines showed some weakness with Canadian Zinc down

10 cents at 15¢ and Redpath off

10 cents to 50. Telford dipped

1¢ to 69.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (CP) - The London

stocks market rallied without investment were still cautious in view of conditions in the Middle East. Improvement in tones was not fully held in some sections.

Gold-edged securities were regular. Didn't stocks moved upward in response to Tuesday's Wall Street rally?

Industrials showed small gains and tobacco and mining shares were selectively better.

South African gold shares were quiet and mainly easier.

Tanker Rates Go Up

ANOTHER AIRPORT A MOVE was a coming of the shipping prices for oil in the last two years. In October of 1956, the price of oil went up from the four companies along with oil firms and the American Oil Company, the Montreal Refinery, and Esso, factors trades. At present, the price of oil is up again, and the Alberta Mining Company said the cost of oil will be increased by 10 cents per barrel. This is a result of the price of crude oil going up.

Majors Threatened By TV Destruction Claims Ford Frick

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick told congress Wednesday that unrestricted televising of big-league baseball games would destroy the sport within 10 years.

Frick said the Senate agriculture committee should ban the televising of baseball games to prevent the loss of 10 million fans.

Major league teams, he said, could not compete with the large television networks.

He reported to House panel on baseball that the network television stations had been given a special classification to set the basis for possible conversion into a third major league. Frick said too many of the eight cities lacked the needed population or facilities.

Frick forecast that the majors will expand first to 10 from eight club leagues and then to 12 cities.

He said that if Major League clubs were allowed to sell television rights and use them to finance their operations, the cost of playing ball would drop.

Frick said bonuses of $100,000 and more apiece could be cut off by instituting a rule requiring clubs to keep their expenses down to a maximum of $100,000 a year.

He said that if the players' strike was settled, the players would be entitled to a 10 percent increase in their salaries.

Frick said bonuses of $100,000 and more apiece could be cut off by instituting a rule commanding clubs to keep their expenses down to a maximum of $100,000 a year.

He said that if the players' strike was settled, the players would be entitled to a 10 percent increase in their salaries.

What! No Sweater?

DUNCAN — Reporters covering the visit of Princess Margaret here yesterday day could hardly believe their eyes.

No one presented the Princess with a Cashmere gift for all visiting dignitaries.

Comic Relief

Fall Draws Laugh

A surprise situation started Princess Margaret checking regalia at Duncan's visitors' desk when she was asked to explain what she was doing here.

She was as surprised as the Princess walked towards the door of a short trap behind Pioneer Park. The photographer turned up and there was a real古今事變 over the smile of a smiling Princess cameraman.

Princess Margaret eyes opened wide and then she cracked at the sight.

Royal Car Hit 70

The royal motorcade of 45 vehicles which Princess Margaret travelled up Island yesterday certainly didn't waste any time on the stretch between Victoria and Duncan, over the 100-centre completed since May 21. Highway reporters following the cavalcade reported the speed at 60 miles an hour and 60 miles an hour in certain areas.

And they said passing up for last time at the end from Duncan to Saanich the皇室御用車 was moving at 70+ some paces.

Princess Margaret made two unofficial stops during her drive. The first was at the Mayor's residence where the party stopped to be welcomed by Mayor J. P. Duncour, resplendent in his blue robes, and Princess C. A. P. Murison, wife of North Cowichan's mayor.

Then came just the start of a new royal tradition — the stopover at Saanich where the Queen Mother, Queen Elizabeth, and Princess Margaret were to be entertained by Governor General Major-General Sir Alexander Rutherford.

The other was just outside Duncan at Petroglyph Park where she switched to a car to drive the last leg into Saanich.

She did not leave the car.

The other Aldermen ignored.

Actress Steals Royal Show From Officials

NANAIMO — Brownie Guide and Sea Rangers were honoured yesterday at the Nanaimo Civic Auditorium to present their thanks to the Princess.

Princess Margaret treated them all to delightful smiles and was both going into and coming out of the hall here yesterday.

She Did It Herself

NANAIMO — Princess Margaret yesterday proved she can be a "do it yourself" girl.

It happened at the city hall here when she arrived to sign Nanaimo's visitors' book.

Mayor Pete Maffeo was blowing his nose and didn't pull out the chair for the Princess to sit on while she signed her name.

So the Princess pulled the heavy chair out herself and sat down.

Brief Visit Pleases Everyone

Duncan youngsters and their parents cheered and clapped yesterday when Princess Margaret ended her brief visit to Pioneer Park with a short walk up and down so everyone could see her. She is accompanied here (from left) by Gen. C. A. P. Murison, reeve of North Cowichan, Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harviston of the RCMP, Mayor J. T. Duncour and Lieutenant-Governor Ernest M. Ross. (Colomist photo by Ted Harris)

Princess Delights Duncan

In No Hurry to Leave

Strangers Reward Hospitality By Robbing Hosts

Two men, according to reports to Victoria police, have learned that it's wise to invite strangers to your rooms for a drink. Both reported being robbed; one said he was beaten.

Frank Rosemus, 36, registered at a downtown hotel, said two men were drinking with him, then attacked him. At first, Rosemus said $7 or $8 were missing, then raised the amount to $27 or $28. He was treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital for a head cut and black eye.

Wendell Richard Gilbert, of Santa Barbara, Calif., claimed he was rolled and robbed of about $75 and personal papers, after drinking in his hotel room with a man he thought to be an English sailor.

Ernest Lagerl, 1032 Mason, who earlier pleaded guilty to obstructing a peace officer in the execution of his duty, yesterday was fined $100 in city police court.

A bid of $147,499 from A & B Construction Ltd. of Nanaimo was the lowest opened yesterday for addition of another floor to the Ewing Building at Victoria College. Five tenders were received.

A centennial year display of 100 paintings by Miss Emily Sartain of Esquimalt, noted painter of Canadian flowers, is being held in the lower rotunda of the legislative buildings for the next two weeks.

The paintings, which were viewed by Princess Margaret during her visit to the buildings Monday, were awarded the gold

Cyclists Hurt In Car Crashes

Two cyclists were hurt, but not seriously, in separate city accidents yesterday.

Thomas Holland, 19, 61 Oswego, and William Elliott, 12, 2317 Blanshard, were treated for bruises at St. Joseph's Hospital and released.

Holland was hurt in a collision at Belleville and Menzies with a car driven by Lila Torraville, 270 Dallas Road. Elliott was hurt in a collision in front of 1919 Douglas with a car driven by John Stefanic, 2180 Granite.

No Polio So Far—But Be on Guard

This is another of a series of articles prepared by the Victoria Colonist with the cooperation of the provincial health department. The series deals with health items of general interest.

Polio season is now starting. Fortunately there has not been one case of poliomyelitis in Greater Victoria this year.

In spite of this, more cases are certain to occur. Parents should realize this and be aware of some things they can do to prevent this disease from striking.

Many peculiar ideas about polio exist in the minds of parents. They may be based on hearsay, on gathered information or on incomplete advice from health and medical personnel. Whatever the sources of your information, add to it the following list of suggestions which should help prevent the spread of poliomyelitis.

Practice Cleanliness — Always wash hands before eating, before handling food, and after going to the toilet. Keep flies and other insects away from food. Do not leave garbage uncovered. Do not use other persons' towels, dishes, tableware or similar articles.

Good personal health habits can prevent polo from spreading.

Don't Get Overtired — Extreme fatigue makes for easier polo victims. Too strenuous play, late hours, irregular living habits are possible invitations to polo. Do not get overtired by hard play, exercise, work or travel.

He Really Didn't Mean To Paint Pomeranian

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—John Walker, 56, told magistrate's court yesterday he hadn't intended to paint his neighbor's dog when he started to paint his house, May 30.

He said the pomeranian ran into his paint brush. Its owner, Mrs. Barbara Landgraff, after the dog got its face painted, dumped garbage into the neighboring lot, turned her garden hose on Mr. Walker, then had him charged with willfully allowing unnecessary pain to the dog. Charge was dismissed.
